English Language Instructor (25% - 30%)

The World Trade Institute seeks to reinforce its English language training and monitoring for students of the MILE Programme and for PhD students of its doctoral school.

The World Trade Institute (WTI) is a centre of advanced studies of the University of Bern. It is a forum for interdisciplinary research and teaching in international trade law and economics, fostering interaction between students and professionals, and allowing researchers and practitioners to pool their expertise. The WTI flagship academic programme is the Master of International Law and Economics (MILE).

You have a Master's degree in English or an equivalent academic qualification, are keen to work individually with international students and to assist them in developing written language skills and expression. You share an interest in international relations and will be part of a team of three with the language instructor and the scientific editor.

Remuneration according to University of Bern regulations.

Start: 1 September 2010 at the latest.

Please submit your application to Rosemarie Coeppicus (rosemarie.coeppicus@iew.unibe.ch) by June 30, 2010.
