Semester:	Spring semester 2024
Root Number:	455489
ECTS:	3
Lecturers:	Patrick Tomberger and Jesús Crespo Cuaresma
Dates:	February 21, 22, 23, 28 and 29, 2024

Audience:

- Master of Advanced Studies of International Law and Economics (MILE) Students – Compulsory
- Joint LL.M. / Diploma of Advanced Studies Trade and Investment Law (TRAIL+) Students - World Trade Institute / Faculty of Law, Unibe – Optional

Course description:

In this course, the students will receive a general introduction into development economics and environmental sustainability. The first part of the course will focus on specific topics in environmental economics and its linkages with economic development. The second part will focus on economic development and growth theories and link them to contemporary issues in development.

The topics we are going to cover include:

1. Economic Development
  - Cross-country income differences
  - Economic growth models
  - Human capital and technology
  - Growth and globalization
2. Development and environmental sustainability
  - Foundations in environmental economics
  - Policy instruments to internalize environmental externalities
  - The economics of climate change
  - Topics on trade and the environment

Grading will be based on short essays prepared by groups of students related to the topics discussed in class. Active participation in the course is required and the students are required to prepare the material discussed in the lectures in advance. For this, the required literature as well as the slides discussed in the lectures will be made available in ILIAS.

Lecturers

Patrick Tomberger

Patrick Tomberger is a post-doc researcher at the University of Innsbruck, Austria, and the World Trade Institute, Switzerland. Before he joined the University of Innsbruck, he worked from 2010 to 2015 as a pre-doc researcher at the University of Linz, Austria.
