Course Description

This first part of a two weeks' course on international trade remedies is comprised of lectures and studies that cover the disciplines on anti-dumping and safeguard measures in the WTO legal system. The course covers both substantive and procedural aspects from a practical perspective, taking into account the interest of the main stakeholders usually involved in these matters, e.g. the authorities of the country applying these regulations, domestic producers, exporters, importers, industrial consumers and the government of the affected exporters. This course is relevant for individuals working in government, industry, law practice, NGOs, and academics who have an interest in trade remedy issues.

Lecturers

Edwin Vermulst

Edwin Vermulst has practiced international trade and EU law and policy since 1987 and is a founding partner of VVGB Advocaten. He is a member of the Brussels bar A-list. Mr. Vermulst graduated from the University of Utrecht in 1983 and received LL.M and SJD degrees from the University of Michigan Law School in 1984 and 1986.

Mr. Vermulst specializes in the representation of multinationals, governments, trade associations, exporters and importers in EU and WTO trade remedies and customs proceedings and has been involved in more than 200 cases. He is, among others, the trade counsel of the World Federation of Sporting Goods Industry [WFSGI].

Mr. Vermulst was a WTO Panelist in Mexico – HFCS and has been involved in various WTO dispute settlement proceedings as a member of the delegation, most recently in China – Anti-Dumping and Countervailing Duty Measures on Wine, Ukraine – Ammonium nitrate and EU – Biodiesel (Indonesia). He has co-authored nine books, including landmark comparative analyses of the anti-dumping systems of Australia, Canada, the EU and the US with Professor John Jackson in 1989 and of rules of origin in 1994, and numerous articles. The second edition of his book on EU Anti-Dumping Law and Practice was published in October 2010 by Sweet & Maxwell. His book on the WTO Anti-Dumping Agreement was published in 2006 by Oxford University Press.

Mr. Vermulst is the Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of World Trade. He is a member of the Faculty of the World Trade Institute in Bern and of the EPLo program in Athens and a member of the Advisory Board of ECIPE, the European Centre for International Political Economy. Mr. Vermulst is invariably selected as a top trade practitioner by the leading legal directories such as Legal500, Who's Who Legal and Chambers. Chambers Global 2024, for example, ranked him as a Star individual. Who's Who Legal Trade and Customs nominated him as the trade lawyer of the year for ten years.

Fernando Piérola

Fernando is an international lawyer and arbitrator of Peruvian and Swiss nationality, with a large experience in national, regional and multilateral proceedings, including trade remedy investigations and international disputes. He started his career at the regional level (General Secretariat of the Andean Community) to become later the legal adviser to Peru's trade remedies commission. Since 2002, he acts as counsel in WTO disputes and provides advice on WTO law to countries from all over the world. He forms part of arbitration rosters in several free-trade agreements and has acts as an arbitrator or a member of annulment committees in numerous investor-State disputes. He teaches at the Catholic University of Peru, the WTI and the University of Saarland, Germany. He has written two books on WTO safeguard rules ('WTO Agreement on Safeguards and Article XIX of GATT. A Detailed Commentary', Cambridge University Press (2022); 'The Challenge of Safeguards in the WTO', Cambridge University Press (2014) and two books on WTO dispute settlement in Spanish language. He has university degrees in law, business management and international economics.

Diego Fuentes (economic assistant to Fernando Piérola)

Diego is a Peruvian economist with extensive experience in trade remedies investigations and policy analysis. Diego has worked for the Peruvian trade remedies authority for over ten years. Between 2017 and 2022, he was appointed economic advisor to said authority and its representative in WTO dispute settlement procedures related to the imposition of anti-dumping and countervailing measures. He has been a member of the international trade negotiations division of the Ministry of Foreign Trade and Tourism of Peru and has participated in various negotiation processes for the signing of free trade agreements, on issues related to market access, customs and trade facilitation, investment in infrastructure and transportation. He has a master's degree in International Economics from the Erasmus University Rotterdam and an economics degree from the Pontifical Catholic University of Peru.

Learning Objectives

- Students should understand the role of anti-dumping and safeguard measures in international trade regulation.
- Students should be able to identify the key similarities and differences between anti-dumping and safeguards, both in terms of their objectives and practical application.
- Students should obtain a sense of how anti-dumping and safeguard investigations are conducted.
- Students should understand the basics of dumping margin calculations and of how determinations of material/serious injury are made.

Assessment

- Students' knowledge will be assessed on the basis of an open book, take home exam which needs to be completed on an individual basis. The exam will consist of essay questions.
- Take home assignment made available on Friday, 31 January 2025, 16:00 and to be submitted latest at 17:00 on 1 February 2025 to masters.wti@unibe.ch.
- One question from Edwin Vermulst, carries 50% weight in the final course grade
- One question from Fernando Piérola, carries 50% weight in the final course grade
